

ERRORS and OMISSIONS

The bold text in the entries below was unintentionally omitted from the printed book, or was received after the production deadline:

"Tim is always so helpful and works until the issue is resolved. I told my office VP of Operations when he retires, so do I.

Tim, you have been excellent to work with over the years, and you deserve the recognition and responsibility of COO. "

"Tim has always been my go-to person whenever I have a tech issue or concern. If you are a friend of Tim's or a friend of a friend, Tim is always happy and willing to help in any way he can. Everybody he has ever met is Tim's friend. And he always tries to make certain you have whatever it is you need.

A few years ago, I was telling Tim about how a dog bit me on my butt cheek while on a run that morning. When I returned from lunch, I found a dog-bone sitting in my chair."

Tim, thank you for your calmness in the midst of chaos, your humor and wit, and your kindness to everyone. Congratulations on your 20 years of service at TCS. Best of luck and rewards for your next 20!

"Tim always has the answer, even when I don't really know the question!

Congratulations Tim and thank you so much for all of the help over the years. You seem to read my mind when I'm trying to describe the issue and I am so grateful for your knowledge and not laughing at me:) You sure can when I hang up!"
